

The Last Road North

Completed in 1974, Alaskas Dalton Highway is the northernmost road in America. At 414 miles, the predominantly dirt road follows the upper half of the Trans-Alaska Pipeline, and is maintained exclusively as the transportation route for the oil fields at Prudhoe Bay. Alaskan photographer Ben Huff followed the road north for the first time in 2007, in search of the Alaskan frontier. He found a complex landscapethe physical and psychological line between wilderness and oil. For five years he traveled the road, and created a melancholy portrait of a space that asks us to reconsider our perception of frontier.

Price, review and buy The Last Road North: A Guide to the Gettysburg Campaign, 1863 (Emerging Civil War Series) at best price and offers from . The Emerging Civil War Series follows Robert E. Lees last road north this spring. The Last Road North: A Guide to the Gettysburg CampaignThe Last Road North published by Kehrer Verlag hardcover 56 color and black/white pictures 112 pages 9.5x11.5 inches texts by Barry Lopez and Karen Irvine. Heres Dan Welch, coauthor of The Last Road North: A Guide to the Gettysburg Campaign, 1863, appearing on Civil War Talk Radio withBen Huff is an Alaska based portrait and landscape photographer. He is available for commissions and editorial assignments. Since 2007, photographer Ben Huff has roamed Alaskas Dalton Highway, one of the most isolated roads in the United States. The Hardcover of the The Last Road North by Ben Huff at Barnes & Noble. FREE Shipping on $25 or more!The Last Road North is a portrait of Alaskas Dalton Highway. At 414 miles, the Dalton is the northernmost road in America, and was constructed solely as a The museums collection of photographs by Alaska artist Ben Huff were purchased from his larger series The Last Road North. These photosBased on the Gettysburg Civil War Trails, and packed with dozens of lesser-known sites related to the Gettysburg Campaign, The Last Road North: A Guide toFind helpful customer reviews and review ratings for The Last Road North: A Guide to the Gettysburg Campaign, 1863 (Emerging Civil War Series) at The Dalton Highway, a 414-mile road in Alaska, is the northernmost road in America. Starting in the south at Livengood, the road is dotted with Title: The Last Road North. Photographer/s: Ben Huff. Date of publication: July 2010. Place of publication: blurb. Dimensions: 8?10 inches.